

Summary

- Gaussian Mixture Model is a flexible probabilistic approach to clustering problem
- Expectation Maximization algorithm can train GMM faster than Stochastic Gradient Descent and also handles complicated constraint
- Expectation Maximization suffers from local maxima (the exact solution is NP-hard)